Fall Series of Microcomputer Course Begins at USD October 9

"Computer Resources for Educators," a series of one-day courses to train educators in the use of microcomputers, begins its Fall program at the University of San Diego on Saturday, October 9 from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Tuition fees are $50 per course, with an additional $25 for those courses requiring extensive laboratory work. All courses in the series sponsored by USD's School of Education Continuing may be taken for professional development unit credit (PDU). For information and registration call 293-4585.

All Classes in October are from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. On Saturday, October 9, "Introduction to the Use of Logo," provides an introduction to the use of APPLE LOGO with hands-on experience with graphics and text programming.

"Introduction to the Use of Microcomputers in Educational Settings," is scheduled for Saturday, October 16 for persons with no previous microcomputer experience. The advantages of micro-computer use and operational instructions will be presented.

On Saturday, October 23, "Advanced Basic Programming for Microcomputers," presents techniques needed to write programs for personal and professional use and is designed for participants with previous experience with microcomputers.

In addition to courses offered at the University, a custom designed in-house program can be arranged.

The Series of microcomputer courses continues through November and December with courses offered, November 6, "Assessing your Computer Needs;" November 20, "Introduction to Word Processing;" December 4, "Microcomputer Use in Library Applications."

Susan Zgliczynski, Ph.D. assistant professor of education and Eugene J. Rathswohl, Ph.D., assistant professor of Management Information Systems, are the USD program instructors for the Computer Resources Program for Educators.
